AutoCAD Central – also known as AutoCAD Enterprise, and previously CADCentral – is an online service providing CAD professionals with product features and functionality. It was developed and released in March 2001 as part of AutoCAD XP. AutoCAD Central is now available on all major operating systems and offers users many features including On-Demand Training, Electronic Architectural Application Suite, and Autodesk's Desktop Architecture and Mechanical Desktop application (formerly known as Autodesk Design Review). User groups and forums In addition to the regular, publicly accessible message boards, AutoCAD forums have been created specifically for users to communicate with other AutoCAD users. AutoCAD users have used online forums since the beginning of the product. Some are active, while others are closed. AutoCAD Forums (Community) Autodesk SharePoint (MyCommunities) Autodesk Social (Twitter, Facebook, YouTube) E-Learning In 2007, Autodesk began to offer self-paced courses online for AutoCAD XP. The courses are available on the program's website. With 3 days left before Christmas, I really didn't think I would make it. I tried to resist checking updates while at work, in case I couldn't go on holiday break yet. So, I finished work and headed home with the gifty package already packed away in my car. And, lo and behold, it was waiting for me! I got there and found an envelope with my name on it. After opening it, I saw that I had a handwritten note (it was awesome!). In the gift was the book I had been wanting! And I also found a jar of pickled beets and some kind of savory herb. The note explained what they were: beet pickles, and it came with a a1d647c40b

In this tutorial, you will create your own Autodesk GIS product. You will then navigate to this product to view an Autodesk drawing. Task Description: Create a GIS product that opens an Autodesk drawing. To open the project, start Autodesk Fusion 360. 1. Open the Autodesk Fusion 360 Start Page. 2. In the Search box at the top right of the page, type GIS. If the search results display a link to Navisworks, click Navisworks. A navigation window opens with a list of Autodesk products. 3. Click the GIS icon in the left column. The GIS window opens. 4. If the GIS window opens as a new window, click the Close button in the top-right corner of the GIS window. The GIS window opens in your main Fusion 360 window. 5. Click the Open icon in the GIS window. The Open dialog box appears. 6. Click the Create a New Product button. The Create New Product dialog box appears. 7. Enter a Product Name for your new product. Choose a name that you will easily recognize and remember. 8. In the Select Folder dialog box, navigate to the folder where you saved the AutoCAD drawing that you will be using. Click the Browse button. The Open dialog box opens. 9. In the Open dialog box, locate the AutoCAD drawing file that you want to open in the GIS product. 10. Click the Open button. The Open dialog box closes. The name of the file appears in the GIS window. 11. Click the OK button in the Create New Product dialog box. The file opens in the GIS window. 12. In the GIS window, click the Open Drawing
