Element Z is a fast paced, humorous Game which is fun to play and easy to learn. It is also suitable for all ages. Some players refer to it as a 'party game' as the game can be played solo or with friends. Why We Made This Game Element Z was designed to be a fun and easy party game. The goal is to make each level as fun as possible. Each level represents a fantastic adventure that you must overcome. It took us many years to get everything ready for Element Z. The first prototype took me two years to design and a similar amount of time to code, test, debug and bring to market. The end product is exactly as we hoped it would be - Fun, Easy and Suitable for All Ages. The machine with which I made Freddy had multiple uses. It can be a game machine, a portal for fans and friends to visit, or a portal to another world. Element Z was designed to be a portable game. I had originally created this game to have it serve as a portal to another world, however in the end, I found that the price of the machine was much cheaper than shipping from overseas. We have since developed a website and are now selling the product wholesale. The game is also available for mobile platforms such as iOS and Android. Why Choose Element Z? Element Z is a fast, fun and easy to learn game that is suitable for all ages. It can be played alone, or with friends and family in a fun and easy to learn manner. The game also has a comedic story line that is fun to watch and makes the game even more enjoyable. I was inspired to make Element Z in 2016 when I was studying a degree in Music Technology. As I was working on various music projects I was also trying to find ways to mix my passion for creativity and technology. I had also been developing a love of cinema, so it was time to create a game with a cinematic feel. As I began to create the story of Freddy, I realised that it was so much fun for me to create. I decided to make the game fun and easy to learn and allowed myself the freedom to make it as humorous and silly as I wanted. What I have to offer Simple controls - There is only one directional press for jump (up, down, left, right) A short level A unique and fun game world Multiple endings - The game has 4 endings. Intelligent Systems - The game has a

Apr 28, 2017 00:00:00 GMTCrosby Point "Crosby Point" (3 syllables) is a popular song of the 1930s and 1940s. It was written as a tribute to Artie Shaw, whose recordings of this song reached No. 1 in the Billboard Adult Contemporary chart in 1938 and 1939. Artie Shaw version The song was written by Ray Noble and composed by Dorrell Minor. First released in 1934 as the B side of "Mark, Don't Mar" by Peter Fox's Pipers, it was covered in 1936 by Artie Shaw in the mood of "Nymph Errant". Shaw included his version on his album Let 'Em Have It (1937). He recorded another version in 1938. This version was released as a 78 rpm record on the Victor Musical Companion label on both swing and dance oriented 45 RPM records. Backing bands for this version of the song included Artie Shaw, Lionel Hampton, and Charlie Barnet. The record was reissued in 1946 as a Victor LPM 33-110. Al Jolson version Al Jolson also recorded the song under the title "Crosby Falls" for his Rouben Mamoulian film Shall We Dance in 1937. His version was recorded on May 22, 1937 with Victor Lounge EH-3, and was featured on the B side of 2 recordings released by Volt Records EBD 371, March 29, 1937, and EBD 371 V-1, April 25, 1937. Jolson later gave his version of the song to Bing Crosby for a duet which Crosby released as a record in 1938 for Decca Records and as a single for RCA Victor in 1939. Tommy Dorsey and His Band versions Tommy Dorsey (along with Artie Shaw and Al Jolson) recorded "Crosby Point" on May 10, 1938 with Geocaching is a treasure hunting game where you can hide small 'caches' inside real-world places and people can find them using a GPS-enabled device. Participation is free of charge and anyone is invited to look for them. Players will explore the locations to locate and collect the cache items. Geocaching Stats In order to find out whether or not a cache is close to you, visit the Geocaching.com website and enter your location. The search will show you which caches are close to you and that are the closest to your location.1. Field of the Invention This invention relates to a device for removing seeds from the pods of a crop plant and more particularly to such a device which is adapted to simultaneously remove from the pods seeds of different varieties. 2. Description of the Prior Art Numerous arrangements have been proposed for removing seeds from the pods of plants as an alternative to the manual picking of each individual seed. Seed is commonly removed from field plants by two common methods: (1) the use of a sickle which extends into the ground and c9d1549cdd
